AN AND ABOUT WESTERLY

Schooner Florence Howard Launched at Stonington After Some Delay—Seventh Day Missionary Society to Educate African Youth—Missing Woman Went to Providence—Sioux Chief Lectures.

So far as ordinary business went, Wednesday was a semi-holiday in Westerly, as all who could journeyed to Stonington to witness the launching of the schooner Florence Howard at the Nat Point shipyard, so named in honor of the late Capt. Nathan Palmer. In Stonington there was a general holiday and many came from New London, Naugatuck and Westerly by trolley cars, while the Colonial express from the east landed fully two hundred passengers from Providence, Boston and points in Massachusetts. This party was composed of owners in the new vessel and their friends, and when the time for launching arrived there were fully 2,000 present.

In the harbor were perhaps fifty small pleasure craft bedecked with flags, while the steamers New Haven and Monack, the latter of which displayed their colors. The schooner, too, was in full flag dress from stem to stern, extending along the topmast heads of the four masts.

Noon was the time set for the launch of the schooner, as finely lined and substantial as the vessel was ever constructed in New England. Scores of workmen drove the wedges between the body of the vessel and the greased launching ways, so as to lessen the weight of the vessel upon the keel blocks. This done, the work of cutting out the keel block was started, commencing at the stern, in order that the weight of the vessel would not be on the ways. Usually the vessels slide gracefully into the water before the keel blocks are all cut away, but not so with the Florence Howard. Precisions have been taken in the usual procedure and was not required at this particular launching. The men cut the keel with the saw, and the wedge, one after the other, almost without cessation, until within fifteen feet of the forward end of the keel, but the handsome vessel showed no inclination of taking a bath.

Then the men cautiously cut away all the keel blocks except the pier upon which the bow rested. It was expected that when this final keel block was cut away the vessel would slide down the greased ways into the water. The block was chopped clear. Signal was given to the men at the bow and they well forward directly under the keel. These were knocked away by battering rams and then the vessel was clear, nothing to hold her from sliding down the seven-eighths of an inch, to the foot incline, so far as those in charge could see.

Still there was a something, for the vessel refused to move. Batterings rams were used on the side of the ways in hope that the jamming might have a sliding effect, but to no purpose. On board the schooner were fully five hundred people and many in the stern of the vessel commenced throwing the weight of their body in unison, and this had a quivering effect on that part of the vessel, which overbore the end of the ways. Then a hawser from the new vessel was hauled taut. There was a jump up and down movement of the people on deck and after over an hour delay the Florence Howard went gracefully down the ways into the water, the men catching her in the stern as she went, and the water's edge, the bottle of wine broken and the vessel christened.

And there the vessel stuck hard and fast, and hundreds on board began to wonder how they were going to land. They were all entering the ship in amazement and amazement. Then men, women and children clambered down the vessel's side on ladders and were taken in boats and rowed to the shore. It is probable that the Florence Howard will be hauled from her mud at high tide at about midnight. The new vessel is owned by the Atlantic Shipping company of Boston, of which Dr. Burrows Spaulding is president and Capt. Cornelius S. Davis is manager. The vessel was designed and built under the supervision of W. Judson Folger. She is 150 feet long, 40 feet in breadth and 14 feet deep of hold.

The gross tonnage is 563 and the net 523. Her carrying capacity will equal about 1,400 tons of coal. The vessel is named for Mrs. Florence Howard, wife of Prentice Howard, of Westerly, Mass., a large stockholder in the company. Capt. William E. Farrow will command the new vessel.

About three years ago schooner Fanny Prescott was built at Stonington for the Atlantic Shipping company. The keel for a five masted schooner for the same company will soon be laid at Nat Point shipyard.

'Twas a Glorious Victory.

There's rejoicing in Federia, Tenn. A man's life has been saved and now Dr. King's New Discovery is the talk of the town for curing C. V. Pepper of deadly lung hemorrhages. "I could not work nor get about," he writes, "and the doctors did me no good, but after using Dr. King's New Discovery three weeks I feel like a new man and can do good work again." For weak, sore or diseased lungs, coughs and colds, hemorrhages, hay fever, the grippe, asthma or any bronchial affection it stands unrivaled. Price 50c and $1. Trial bottle free. Cured Hay Fever and Summer Cold.

A. S. Nushbaum, Batesville, Indiana, writes: "Last year I suffered for three months with a summer cold so distressing that it interfered with my business. I had many of the symptoms of hay fever, and a doctor's prescription did not reach my case, and I took several medicines which seemed only to aggravate it. Fortunately I insisted upon having Foley's Honey and Tar. It quickly cured me. My wife has since used Foley's Honey and Tar with the same success." The Lee & Osgood Co.

of Michigan and Daniel. The twenty-three representatives came from practically every section of the country. Representative Stimp introduced to the president Capt. W. P. Kent, the republican nominee for governor of Virginia. The president has promised to ask several of his cabinet officers to assist the republicans in Virginia by making speeches during the campaign. The president will stop in Macon, Ga., Nov. 4 to attend the state fair. The president promised also to make a brief stop in Florence, R. C., Nov. 5, if the schedule could be arranged.

MAN BURNED TO DEATH.

Michael Kent's Body Found in Ruins of His Home at West Cromwell.

West Cromwell, Aug. 4.—Michael Kent, 42 years old, was found dead early in a fire today which destroyed his residence, near the East Berlin station, with all his contents. Mr. Kent was residing at the house of a daughter, Margaret, who lived with him, being away on a vacation. It is supposed that the old man was overcome by smoke and for that reason was unable to make his escape. The charred body was found in the ruins. The house was located on Putnam Hill, some distance away from any other dwelling, and was nearly consumed before discovery that it was burning was made. The property loss is estimated at about $2,500.

Mr. Kent is survived by three daughters, Miss Margaret Kent, a stenographer in Middletown, Mrs. William Geary of New Haven and Miss Ella Kent of New Haven, and a son, John, who lives in Boston. Mr. Kent was the father of Maurice Kent, who was killed near Finnegan's stable two years ago.

The funeral will be held tomorrow morning from the Catholic church in East Berlin. The Rev. Father Degnam will officiate.
